🗂 Projects

SYMP-WEB 🔗

Taking into account user specificity between freelancers and employers, S/W was developed to provide a simple yet efficient application for web developers to embrace freelance opportunities presented across the world. The sudden increase in remote job opportunities brought together a greater demand for the freelancing market, and SYMP-WEB is here to quench that demand.

Hulu Clone 🔗

Hulu is a fantastic web app with great features, and this project was created to replicate those features. This project was developed using React.js and TMBD (a movie database), providing movies from all genres and current movie reviews based on public opinion.
